

Jezebel
Pinot Noir

Jezebel is a joint effort of winemakers Aron Hess (Daedalus Cellars) and Peter Rosback (Sineann). Their goal is to produce blended wines that are highly approachable and full of character.

Originally conceived as a negociant brand, Jezebel is now a true second label for both wineries sourcing wine from both cellars.

The 2004 Pinot Noir is a blend of wine from several exceptional Oregon vineyards. The fruit was cropped around two tons per acre, fermented in small lots, and blended to produce a wine that is particularly concentrated, well-structured and fruit-forward. It should be enjoyable upon release, but it should also cellar well for five to seven years.

Cases produced: 1250 cases (12-pack/750ml)
